KEITH & PADDY USE THE FORCE

THE DUO SET THEIR COMIC SIGHTS ON STAR WARS

We love Star Wars and in the 40 years since it hit cinemas, there have been plenty of parodies. One of the best came from the Family Guy team, but now it's Paddy McGuinness and Keith Lemon's turn to try and raise a few laughs. In tonight's 30-minute remake of a classic, they rope in Michelle Keegan to play Princess Leia, while Ant and Dec play Ewoks.

TWIN PEAKS: THE RETURN

BRITAIN'S GOT TALENT

THE MET

PAULA

It was one of the most baffling but iconic TV series of the early 90s. And now, an incredible 27 years after it first aired, it's back. The fictional town of Twin Peaks was inhabited by a bizarre collection of characters, including a woman with a pet log and a cross-dressing FBI boss. Familiar faces including Kyle MacLachlan return, along with director David Lynch who helms all 18 new episodes.

■ Tuesday, 9pm, Sky Atlantic

For the last six weeks, we've witnessed everything from terrible impressionists, hula hoopers, bendy Russian ladies and dad and daughter singers to massive choirs and magicians. But will one of them be good enough to be judged the winner of this year's Britain's Got Talent? Tonight is the last of the auditions episodes, which means the live shows are on their way in a week's time.

■ Tonight, 8pm, ITV

Few would argue that being an officer in the Metropolitan Police is not an easy job. Now the work of officers from Britain's biggest police force gets the documentary crew treatment as cameras follow them as they hit the streets. In this first episode, police constables Laura Walker and Oz Bhatty are out and about on the streets of Westminster, but end up trying to sort out a chaotic summer party in Hyde Park.

■ Wednesday, 9pm, BBC1

Thrillers have been all the rage this year with Apple Tree Yard, The Replacement and Little Boy Blue being some of the most watched. Here's another to add to your list. It's a revenge thriller about the aftermath of a chemistry teacher's one-night stand with a dodgy odd-job man. But she soon regrets both hiring and bedding him when he turns out to be a sandwich short of a picnic. Denise Gough and Tom Hughes star.

CABIN IN THE WILD WITH DICK STRAWBRIDGE

This clumsily titled new series finds eight teams trying to turn cabins across Wales into luxury gaffs to lure in tourists. Their challenge is to use local landscapes, mythology and traditions as their inspirations and, once complete, they will be used to create a pop-up hotel that moves around Wales. Celebrity MasterChef finalist Dick Strawbridge and Amazing Spaces Shed Of The Year's Will Hardie are also coming up with their own cabin. In tonight's first episode, it's the Welsh dragon that's inspiring designs.

IN BETWEEN A CHUCK AND A GLASS PLACE

TWO OF THE INBETWEENERS AND GOSSIP GIRL'S BASS TEAM UP TO SELL WINDOWS

What do you get if you mix the cast of one of the greatest ever British comedies with the best American teen drama of the last decade? Well, once you take two members of The Inbetweeners and add a hunk from Gossip Girl, you have White Gold.

The comedy drama is set in 1983 at an Essex double-glazing showroom. And it's a lot more competitive than you might imagine. Ed Westwick, who played bad boy Chuck Bass in Gossip Girl, heads the cast as Vincent Swan, a smug salesman who'll do anything to flog windows. And his co-workers include Fitzpatrick, played by James Buckley, and Lavender, played by Joe Thomas, who starred as Jay and Simon in The Inbetweeners.

"Double-glazing salesmen started making a lot of money because it was a product that was quite cheap to make," explains James. "They were knocking it together and ripping off little old ladies. I guess they're like those 80s yuppies. So this is The Wolf Of Wall Street meets The Inbetweeners."

"The characters are quite appetite driven," adds Joe. "They're interested in money and sex and drugs and don't think about looking back and seeing the damage that they've caused."

"But basically, it's funny – I should emphasise this. They don't all die at the end. But their product is naff and they're dining out on it for as long as they possibly can while people still like it. It has that classic comedy thing of people thinking they're bigger shots than they actually are."

And if you think it has a hint of The Inbetweeners humour in it, that's because as well as Joe and James, it was written and created by Damon Beesley, one of the men behind the Channel 4 comedy.

"There's a more dramatic, solid storyline built into it, but it does have that Inbetweeners banter about it," adds Joe. "It's got to. It's got half the Inbetweeners in it!"

Fitzpatrick is a slick and smarmy troublemaker who can charm the life savings from anyone, while Lavender's conscience gets the better of him and affects his sales.

And being set in the 1980s means there's plenty of opportunity to bring out some awful clothes.

"The suits are nothing like Chuck Bass's," says Ed. "He had a great wardrobe. But this time, I've just got some turtlenecks."

James has a fake moustache, which is horrible," adds Joe. "I'd love some fake facial hair. When you look at photos from the 80s, everyone's hair just looked a mess. It was long at the back with highlights. None of us have got a mullet, though."

GENTLE TOUCH

CLASSY COPPER INSPECTOR GEORGE GENTLY IS SET TO BOW OUT IN STYLE

With so many detective dramas on the telly, most of us have at least one favourite they will tune into week on week. But the list of choices is set to narrow a little as it's the beginning of the end for Inspector George Gently.

The policeman is hanging up his handcuffs after a decade on screen with two 90-minute, feature-length episodes set in the north-east. This time, George had fast-forwarded to 1970 and while for most, it might be the optimistic beginning of a new decade, he doesn't see it that way.

"George, as always, is somewhat at odds with life," explains Martin Shaw, who plays the inspector. "He feels that he is out of place or that life is out of joint – and it is partly because of the continued loss that he feels over his wife's murder. He is still grieving for her and it's a space that can never properly be filled."

"But also he just doesn't like modern life. So when his chief comes along and says, 'We need to discuss your retirement,' George realises it is time for him to leave. But police work is something he is so passionate about – police work and justice are his life."

But before he waves goodbye, he has two final cases to solve. In the first, he becomes involved in an investigation that has the potential to be a miscarriage of justice. Then, in the second, he has to give court evidence against some of his former colleagues and examine evidence against them. But there's a twist in the tale because the usually incorruptible cop might have to bend the rules to help those nearest and dearest to him.

"They have been investigating a cold case that Bacchus worked on before George arrived," adds Martin. "And to George's horror, he finds that there have been some shortcuts made by Bacchus. This infuriates George, as he insists on doing everything by the book and won't tolerate any kind of bending of rules. It sort of fractures their relationship."

"I shall miss, most of all, the companionship and comradeship of the people who have been part of the series right from the start. And I'll miss the comfort of knowing who you are and what it is you have to do."

DARA BYTES BACK

FUNNY MAN DARA Ó BRIAIN BRINGS BACK THE GAMES WE KNOW AND LOVE

Dara and the team get hammered!

Sam Pamphilon and Zoe Lyons have a Bit of fun

The idea of watching other people play video games may not sound like a winner, but it has certainly paid off for Dara Ó Briain. The Mock The Week host had such a hit with his first series of Dara O Briain's Go 8 Bit last year that it was asked to come back for not one but two new series, and he says that it just worked from the word go.

"We just went in and it fell into place very quickly, so very few tweaks had to be done," Dara reveals. "We just stumbled across it and it was like, 'Well, why hasn't this been done before? Why aren't you just making people who talk entertainingly sit on a couch and compete?' Things people do anyway, to be honest. I have had nights on the couch with Ed Byrne where we have been shouting at each other over Halo! So it just worked. The only problem now is making sure we have enough games coming through and working out which ones to bring back."

We're now in the second week of the show's 10-episode run, and in each episode there are five rounds of competitive gaming on everything from ancient games and arcade classics to the latest titles with everything in between.

Each show features two famous faces facing off and this week, Rob Beckett and Zoe Lyons will compete against each other in Gran Turismo, Uncharted 4, Horace Goes Skiing, Whac-a-Mole and something called Goat Simulator.

It's pretty competitive stuff and Dara says that they're not faking it.

"We pretend to be competitive on things like Mock The Week because we feel you are obliged to," he adds. "We genuinely want to win at this, so people get really passionate and with people cheering you on it is quite the adrenaline rush!"

It's not just Dara getting hot under the collar either, because the celebs in series one got sucked in too.

"Robert Webb is quite softly spoken and quiet, but there were moments when he turned into a complete fiend," he says. "Richard Osman as well. They all had their moments where something would happen and you would go, 'Well, I was not expecting that.' Rachel Riley got a perfect score on Street Fighter against Russell Howard and that is what you're looking for – that kind of humiliation. We haven't had anything quite as humiliating as that, but there have been a couple of incidents where people have been standing on couches."

MAN OF THE CLOTH

SEAN BEAN STARS AS A PRIEST IN JIMMY MCGOVERN'S NEW DRAMA, BROKEN

Anna Friel plays Christina, who is struggling to bring up her kids

Adrian Dunbar is Father Michael's mentor Peter

With Moving On, Reg and Accused among his recent hits, Cracker creator Jimmy McGovern is well known for crafting TV that makes you think.

His latest series, Broken, is another powerful drama, starring Sean Bean as Catholic priest Michael Kerrigan doing his best to help his impoverished community cope while dealing with his own problems.

A strong cast also includes Marcella's Anna Friel and Line Of Duty's Adrian Dunbar, and here Sean tells us why he had to be involved...

TELL US ABOUT YOUR CHARACTER...

Father Michael is the parish priest for the particular small town where Broken takes place. He's embedded in the community amongst the people who live there, and he has an interesting relationship with many of the characters that you see across the series. He's fighting an uphill battle with quite a few of them, as to them he represents an organisation that has not really lived up to their or their loved ones' expectations in the past. This means some are reluctant to have anything to do with him and don't believe in what he believes in. Then there are others who see him as a figure of respect and go to him for advice when they've no one else to turn to – it's a real mix. It's a community that has mixed feelings about religion these days, which I think is representative of our country as a whole. He's very well meaning, and he's also someone who is carrying a lot of sadness, grief and guilt – and very horrific memories of the past.

THIS IS YOUR FIRST TIME PLAYING A PRIEST...

Though I've had dealings with priests and churches before, I'd never really thought about playing a priest. I've been in church and seen priests in front of me, but when you're actually up there, looking the other way and you've got the vestment on, it's quite a different story, let me tell you. I found it quite nerve-racking the first time. I wanted to get everything right – I guess that's the thing. I won't say it's like first night in theatre, but I'm told it's similar in terms of how nerve-racking it is to begin with.

WHAT MADE YOU WANT TO PLAY FATHER MICHAEL?

Jimmy McGovern! I worked with Jimmy on The Accused and I had a wonderful time. It was one of the most enjoyable and rewarding experiences I've ever had, and when Jimmy came up with the idea of playing a priest I was very flattered that he should think of me to play the role. I just jumped at the chance. The depth of the writing and the honesty and the bravery of what he was getting down on paper – it really went for it. So I wanted to play Father Michael because it's such a terrific story.

EMMERDALE'S EMILY HEAD TELLS US ABOUT REBECCA'S TURMOIL OVER HER UNBORN BABY

DOES REBECCA WANT TO KEEP THE BABY NOW?

She is very confused. She's in a very fragile place and doesn't really have many people to talk to about it. She's not going to tell her sister and she's not told her dad – Victoria is the only one that knows but she thinks it's Ross's. Robert doesn't want anything to do with her. She's really struggling with the idea that she may not be ready, but the first time she was pregnant she had an abortion. Can she go through that again?

DOES SHE LOVE ROBERT?

She just wants to feel loved and when they first met she thought that was a possibility. She definitely was in love with Robert. I think when you've been in love with a person and you never really had a proper break-up, there's never really much closure and that's the thing with Rebecca and Robert at the moment.

HOW DOES SHE FEEL ABOUT THE PROSPECT OF BECOMING A SINGLE MUM?

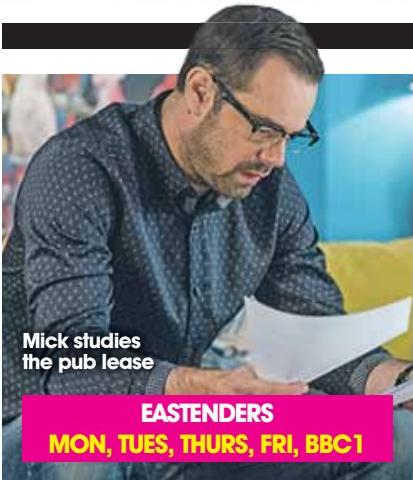

I don't think it's her ideal, but I think that given the years since she had her first abortion she's thought about every outcome that could have possibly happened and the idea of being a mum is one that has stuck with her. I think she's always wanted to be a mum deep down.

WHAT DOES SHE THINK WHEN SHE FINDS OUT THAT ROSS HAS BEEN BLACKMAILING ROBERT?

I think she feels bad for Ross as well because although they weren't exclusive when she slept with Robert, when she found out she was pregnant they sort of were. I really think that she's started to develop feelings for him and the last thing that she wanted to do was to hurt him as well. I don't think that Rebecca wants Aaron to know and the threat of Ross telling him is quite terrifying because she doesn't want to ruin anyone's relationship.

WOULD SHE LIKE ROBERT INVOLVED IN THE UPBRINGING OF THE CHILD?

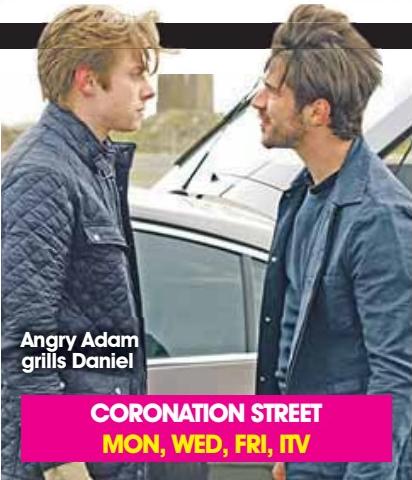

At the moment she just wants him out of the picture. Robert has been pretty vile to her and to Aaron.

IT'S A ROLLER-COASTER WEEK FOR LYING LOVE RAT ROBERT

Robert is in panic when he and Aaron return and he learns that Rebecca has yet to have an abortion. And while she still has his baby inside her, Ross can still blackmail him. However, Robert can't get the money he is asking for and Rebecca feels sorry for him, asking Ross to lay off. But this makes Ross think that she's still burning a candle for him. Little do any of them know that Rebecca wants to keep the baby and not tell anyone who the dad is.

Later in the week, Robert's conscience weighs so heavily on him that he confesses to Aaron what he's done. But how will his hot-headed hubby react? Robert's not the only one feeling guilty though because so is Tracy. She plans to use the attack she recorded on her phone as evidence. However, Pollard refuses to let her do it and steals her phone and smashes it up. It doesn't stop her going to the police and handing herself in though. Also, Charity blackmails Debbie and Rebecca.

DESPERATE MICK LOSES HIS RAG BUT IS HE SET TO LOSE THE VIC?

How long can a guilty Shirley keep hiding the truth about the Vic from Mick? Not long, because it looks like he's sussed it out by the end of Monday's episode. Shirley admits to Whitney that she forged her son's signature and, eventually, Shirley crumbles and decides to tell him what she has done. Only when she finds him talking to Fi, she knows the cat is out of the bag. By Tuesday, a desperate Mick is searching every word of the lease to find a loophole. Linda calms him briefly, but then he takes his anger out on poor Whitney. When he finds out Max's role in all this, he storms off to see him.

Meanwhile, Lauren is still playing with fire when it comes to Josh. Steven is stifling her, so when Josh invites her to a client meeting, she jumps at the chance to go. At home, Abi stirs things with Steven which makes him wonder what Lauren is really up to. And he becomes more suspicious when he spots Josh dropping Lauren back at home that night.

ADAM CONFRONTS DANIEL OVER KEN'S FALL IN FURIOUS FACE-OFF

Adam's need to get Daniel to confess to what he believes he did to Ken takes a dark twist this week when he bundles his uncle into the boot of a car and takes him to a deserted car park. There, brandishing a tape recorder on his phone, he demands Daniel admits what he did. Adam's plan fails so he turns his attention to Sinead and tells the police she might be to blame. At the same time, Ken has a sudden flashback to what happened the night he was shoved down the stairs and by the end of the week he is convinced he knows who did it.

Elsewhere, Sarah is so worried about Bethany that she contacts the cops for help. When an officer turns up, little does she know it's actually Nathan's mate Neil!

Meanwhile, recovering alcoholic Peter finds out he has enough money to buy the Rovers, much to Toyah's delight. But by the end of the week, Steve has changed his mind thanks to some interference from Nick.

HARRY QUIZZES STE AND JAMES AS HE HUNTS FOR AMY'S KILLER

Harry and Tony visit Ste, who reveals that he thinks Ryan killed Amy. Harry questions James and decides to check the CCTV at The Loft where Ryan said he was drinking when Amy was murdered. Harry finally gets inside The Loft but the footage from the night that Amy was killed is missing.

Elsewhere, Cleo follows Joel to a drug deal. But on his way back, he's surprised when she returns his motorbike that was stolen by Shane. They clean it up together to take his mind off his cravings and just before they end up kissing, she admits she's in love with him.

Meanwhile, for Prince and Hunter's birthday, Neeta steals a cake from Sally's office, but Hunter gets the wrong impression and tries to kiss her. Later, Yasmine and Prince persuade Tom to drive them to a local party but, along with Alfie, they get lost. Yasmine starts to get chest pains, but everyone thinks she's faking – until she collapses.

Britain's Got More Talent

9.20pm, ITV2

Is there anything Stephen Mulhern can't turn his hand to? Children's TV? Check. Magic tricks? Check. Gameshows? Check. The longest-ever running presenter of an ITV spin-off show? Check. While hosts of The Xtra Factor came and went each year (until it was recently axed) old Mulhern has remained at the helm of Britain's Got More Talent for 11 years in a row now. And along with I'm A Celebrity Get Me Out Of Here... Now! it is still a ratings winner with more than a million of us tuning in every week to continue enjoying the show when we feel like we just can't get enough of those acts featured on the main event. What makes this so popular is madcap Mulhern's ability to get the best out of the contestants that he interviews and the fact there is some comedy gold to be found in the acts that didn't make it to the main show on ITV. As the saying goes, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it" and Stephen obeys that rule with his usual selection of pranks on some of the more gullible guests. Also, we get a chance to hear the views of the judges Simon Cowell, Alesha Dixon, Amanda Holden and David Walliams. ★★★★☆

Up to £500K can be won every week

That's 5 draws per week each with up to £100K jackpot

Mismatched cop duos are nothing new, but they're rarer when it comes to female law enforcers. It certainly works with Sandra Bullock and Melissa McCarthy who team up for this hilarious comedy. Sandra plays a straight-laced FBI agent who is forced to buddy up with a rude local detective in the hunt for a drugs kingpin. Expect a lot of laughs. ★★★★☆

NEW SERIES

The Trial: A Murder in the Family

9pm, Channel 4

If you like a good murder mystery to get your amateur detective teeth into, then you are not going to want to miss this new drama. Set over five consecutive nights this week, The Trial is an unusual hybrid of fiction and documentary. Set against the backdrop of a fictional crime, the QC's, judge and 12 members of the jury are all real, but those involved in "the crime" are actors. The story surrounds a man who is being accused of murdering his wife, 38-year-old Carla Davis, which he pleads not guilty to. She was strangled to death in her own home. Her estranged husband Simon is in the frame for her death, but is he responsible? Over five episodes, there will be plenty of twists and turns as we get to see the inner workings of the justice system. Giving evidence at the trial will be forensic experts, police officers and eye witnesses as well as friends and relatives of both the victim and the accused. Then once the prosecution and defence have made their cases, the secrets of what being a juror entails will be revealed when cameras follow them into the deliberation room as they try to reach their verdict – guilty or not guilty. ★★★★

The Durrells

8pm, ITV

There's a disagreement between Louisa and Spiro tonight because she reckons that he's being overprotective when he brands her taste in men as terrible. Meanwhile, Vasilia is getting impatient because Larry is dragging his heels when it comes to their relationship and Hugh admits he has big plans when it comes to olive oil. ★★★★☆

Grantchester

9pm, ITV

Sidney is still soul-searching as he leaves Grantchester behind and ends up in a travellers' camp. He's also on a mission to retrieve Mrs Maguire's life savings. But once he settles in with the travellers, he finds himself enjoying life there more than he did back home. But when one of the community members is found murdered, he's the prime suspect. ★★★★☆

Labyrinth

5.10pm, Channel 5

David Bowie? Check. Awful 1980s wig? Check. Jim Henson puppets? Check. It may be more than 30 years old but there's still much to love in this story about a boy who is kidnapped by goblins and their king. It's up to his sister to rescue him, but first she has to negotiate her way through a creature-inhabited maze to find her way to the tot. ★★★★

Police Interceptors / Inside the Gang: Girl Gangstas

8pm / 9pm, Channel 5

There are two very different sides of life on Channel 5 tonight, from those who uphold the law to those who break it. Beginning with Police Interceptors, what we love about this series is the shoulder-mounted and in-car cameras that bring us everything in such detail, it almost makes us feel like we are there. Jim and the team are off to bust suspected drug traffickers while Dan and Gordy are tasked with trying to locate a man seen in the streets brandishing two knives. Meanwhile, it's down to John to deal with the aftermath of a multiple car pile-up and in an early-morning raid, the cops surprise a household as they search for Class A drugs. Next up are Girl Gangstas in the final part of the series that goes inside British gangs. They talk about the extreme lengths they go to in order to be thought of as equals, including getting involved in drugs, sexual exploitation and violence. We meet Anna-Lee who shares her experiences of selling weed and shows off her weapons. Meanwhile, Cherelle packs drugs to be smuggled to gang members who are serving prison sentences. It's fascinating stuff. ★★★★☆

Just 13p a day can provide a cash sum for someone you love

The Guaranteed Over 50 Plan gives you cover for the rest of your life. There's no medical and no questions about your health. So, if you're aged 50-85, your acceptance is guaranteed.

After you've had the plan for two years, a fixed cash sum will be paid on your death. All we ask is that you keep paying your premiums for life. If you stop, your cover will end and you won't get anything back.

We'll never increase your premium or reduce your cover. Just bear in mind that inflation will reduce the value of your fixed cash sum over time. You should also be aware that, depending on how long you live, you could pay in more than the cash sum paid out.

Finding out more couldn't be easier. Get in touch today to request your free information pack and we'll also send you a free pen.

As a thank you for taking out a plan the first month's premium is FREE, and you'll get a FREE £75 gift card.

How funeral costs are rising

Support for your loved ones when they need it most

There are a lot of costs to think about when planning your funeral. There's the basic funeral, plus the optional extras – such as flowers and a headstone. There are also professional fees, such as inheritance management services. We call this full figure 'the cost of dying'.

You might be surprised to know that the average cost of a funeral in the UK has more than doubled since 2004. And it looks set to rise even further. That's why it's more important than ever to make sure you have a level of cover to protect your family from these expenses.

THE EXTRAS CAN ALL ADD UP
MEMORIAL	£696
CATERING	£271
LIMO HIRE	£310
FLOWERS	£167
VENUE HIRE	£311
DEATH NOTICE	£55
FUNERAL NOTICE	£58
ORDER SHEETS/ SERVICE CARDS	£82
TOTAL AVERAGE OF EXTRAS	£1,951

NEW SERIES

Twin Peaks: The Return

9pm & 10.10pm, Sky Atlantic

It's been a whopping 27 years since Twin Peaks first reached our screens. Back in the day, there had been nothing like it on our televisions before. Declining ratings led to its cancellation after its second season in 1991. But it has often been ranked as one of the greatest television dramas ever made. Now it makes its return as a brand new 18-part series written by original creators David Lynch and Mark Frost. The first season followed an investigation headed by FBI Special Agent Dale Cooper, played by Kyle MacLachlan, into the murder of Laura Palmer, a popular Homecoming Queen, who lived in the fictional town of Twin Peaks, Washington. But with David Lynch at the helm, there was weirdness aplenty with The Giant, the deaf FBI boss, the lady with a pet log and the terrifying Bob. In this new series, Kyle MacLachlan reprises his role as FBI agent Dale Cooper, who led the original search for Laura's killer, and through whom the town's eerie secrets gradually crept out. And to kick things off, there's a double bill of episodes. Expect to see some familiar – but much older looking – faces. ★★★★☆

White Gold

10pm, BBC2

We are taking a trip back to the 1980s this week with a brand new drama set against a backdrop of drug taking, cash and sex. No, it's not another take on the super rich lives of the wheelers and dealers of Wall Street – instead, it's set in a double glazing showroom in Britain. Okay, so that might not sound quite as glamorous as The Wolf Of Wall Street, but it does star three fantastic actors. Firstly, you have hunk Ed Westwick in the lead role. Any woman in her early twenties will remember him as pouting bad boy Chuck Bass in Gossip Girl. And then there are two of the cast members of the never short of brilliant The Inbetweeners. Set in Essex in 1983, Ed plays Vincent Swan, an intelligent, stylish and charismatic salesman who doesn't think twice about breaking the rules if it means a sale. His team includes Fitzpatrick, played by Inbetweeners star James Buckley, a smarmy scumbag who can charm the life savings out of anyone, and Lavender, fellow Inbetweeners Joe Thomas, who plays a failed musician who is much more moralistic than his workmates. So expect dodgy shenanigans, scams and petty rivalries in this comedy drama. ★★★★☆

FILM OF THE DAY

X-Men: Days of Future Past

9pm, Film4

It's not the strongest of the X-Men films, but there's still plenty to like when you've got a cast including the talented Jennifer Lawrence, James McAvoy and Hugh Jackman. When robots are running riot in the present, it's a case of the old X-Men meeting the newbies as Wolverine is sent back in time to the 1970s to join forces with them and help defeat the enemy. ★★★★☆

Kat and Alfie: Redwater

8pm, BBC1

We must admit, when we first heard about this EastEnders spin-off, we were more than a little worried. Kat and Alfie are two of the show's most loved and famous characters and giving them their own six-part series could have been a spectacularly bad idea. But based on the first episode last week, we're totally hooked. In part two, the whole village is in shock after the sudden death of one of their own. And after a 20-year absence, Eileen has returned from America with her lad Kieran. And while Lance and Agnes' older daughter Roisin is not very happy about catching up with her estranged sister, Kieran wants to get to know his old childhood friend Dermott and cousin Andrew. Meanwhile at the holiday cottage, Alfie tries to persuade Kat not to go to the wake. But when has she ever been someone who does what they are told? So she decides to go along regardless but will her meddling lead to confirmation that Andrew is her son or will she put her position in the village in jeopardy? Later, and after the funeral, comes the reading of the will. And that means another surprise from beyond the grave. ★★★★☆

Kingdom of Heaven

9pm, Film4

Ridley Scott rarely makes a stinker of a film – although this one comes close. Naked paddle-board botherer Orlando Bloom stars as a French blacksmith who becomes a knight and promises to defend Jerusalem. However, while his sick king struggles to keep the peace, the Christians and Muslims both try to seize power. Edward Norton also stars in the thriller. ★★★★☆

Versailles / Jamestown

9pm, BBC2 / 9pm, Sky1

There's a double bill of period dramas tonight but as they are both on at the same time, you're going to have to set the digibox recorder for one of them. First, we'll kick off with series two of Versailles and there's a shock in store for the French nobility when Queen Marie-Therese takes charge after Louis XIV leaves for war. She takes the moral high ground and decides to ban debauchery. And let's face it, without that, the programme would only be half its length. However both husband and wife have their challengers. William of Orange tempts the King to take the field against his

Dutch army while Madame de Montespan has a devious plan for rival Isabelle. Also at Versailles, visiting Sultan of Bijapur refuses to let a vital treaty signing sully the hands of the Queen. And others are trying to talk Philippe into stepping into his brother's shoes and pose as the monarch for the occasion. Elsewhere, in 17th-century America, Jamestown continues and rumour of a gold mine sends a stir of suspicion through the settlement. Meanwhile, Farlow and Redwick urge a handsome young soldier to get information from Mercy. ★★★★☆

12.55am, Channel 4

Even if you don't know the film, there's a fair bet you've sung along with the title track or Let's Hear It For The Boy, even if by accident. Kevin Bacon stars as a student who moves to a small town where rock 'n' roll and dancing are banned. He makes it his mission to bring things up to date. The late Chris Penn and Sarah Jessica Parker also appear in this classic. ★★★★☆

You might think you are making headway with a sales pitch, but you're turning off the very people you're trying to win over. Adopting a no-pressure approach will yield better results. Meanwhile, a flirtatious message will fill you with excitement. If you're single, this would be a great time to go on a first date with someone who makes you laugh. If you're in a relationship, arrange a special outing.

Resist the temptation to spend any extra income on expensive outings. It's better to save your cash for meaningful experiences. Taking a series of short trips will keep you from getting bored and frustrated. If you're asked to take on more responsibilities at work, agree. These duties will feel more like play than work. If there's anything you enjoy, it's getting paid to exercise your creativity.

Making inroads with stubborn people comes easy for you. That's because you can understand the motivations of others. By tuning in to what excites their imagination, you can tailor arguments that appeal to them. When you're dealing with a toxic authority figure, you're willing to admit it and walk away. Meanwhile, an exciting romantic relationship takes the sting out of professional frustrations.
